KYLE ROBERTSON
GRAPHIC & DIGITAL DESIGNER
LONDON, UK

A LITTLE ABOUT ME

Hello. I'm Kyle. An experienced designer of brand, digital and motion experiences.

My academic background is in graphic and digital design, but I frequently moonlight in various other fields including motion graphics, product design and video.

I believe that all good design should engage and communicate with people. I always ensure that I'm always on brief to deliver a fully considered idea-driven solution that's both relevant and beneficial to the client's business.

EXPERIENCE

APRIL 2011 – AUGUST 2013
WOLFFE
Graphic & Digital Designer / Account Manager

During my time at Wolffe, I worked as a designer and account manager. I was also made head of digital due to my experience with designing websites and my thirst for working in more of a digital environment.

AUGUST 2013 – JANUARY 2015
HEEHAW
Senior Graphic & Digital Designer

Working at Heehaw as a senior designer gave me the opportunity to have a big influence on all design and creative output, leading a team of designers on projects from start to finish. I have led projects for Lothian Buses, AVG technologies, and Exova.

FEBRUARY 2015 – DECEMBER 2016
BRITISH FILM INSTITUTE
Senior Graphic Designer

I moved to London early in 2015 to join the British Film Institute on the Southbank as part of their in-house design team. My love of movies and design made this an easy choice. In this time I helped design the creative for the London Film Festival, as well as some of the biggest film seasons such as Steven Spielberg, Martin Scorsese and Quentin Tarantino.

DECEMBER 2016 – PRESENT
THE TELEGRAPH
Senior Designer

I am currently working at the Telegraph newspaper leading and designing across the marketing and product teams.
